Instructors at Liberty English Camp (organized by PAFERE Foundation in cooperation with Language of Liberty Institute)

Tapadło, 4-10 of September 2011

Glenn Cripe is a co-founder and Executive Director of the Language of Liberty Institute (2005). Originally from Chicago, Glenn has lived in a dozen cities in the US and abroad, including San Francisco and Los Angeles, and now calls Arizona home. He studied languages, finance, and economics at Indiana University, then pursued a career in IT development, consulting, and training. As the head of LLI, he recruits and develops new local partners, teachers, and donors; prepares and executes the camp programs; expands our network to freedom fighters in new places; and plans our long-term growth.

Glenn's outside interests include classical music (concerts, playing piano), camping, hiking, and Scrabble. He takes special pleasure in having helped translate and publish the works of Ayn Rand in Russia in 1993 — the first time in her native language and native country.

Andy Eyschen is a Co-founder and Director of the Language of Liberty Institute. An Australian citizen, originally from Luxembourg, Andy currently works as a management consultant from Kuala Lumpur, Malaysia. Andy's special contribution to LLI and the Liberty Camp is his broad experience with consulting, organizational development, and training programs.

Astrid Campos is the Director of Marketing for LLI. She, with her husband, is co-owner of SuperHero Print and Design which specializes in earth friendly printed materials and web site design.

Astrid has been involved in politics as an activist for many years, working with different pressure groups on a variety of issues. She also teaches activism strategies in the U.S. Her greatest passion is food and health issues and she currently also has a small business that coaches clients on nutrition and natural health alternatives.

David Hutzelman is a retired Director of Information Systems for a Fortune 100 company and teacher of economics. He has volunteered with Junior Achievers, worked for CATO, and currently sits on the boards of various citizen political action committees in Texas. David has a keen interest in teaching the next generation of leaders about Austrian economics, capitalism and the morality of classical liberalism.
